

Smarter Greenkeeping

Bridgwater College has teamed up with two of the South Wests best-known greenkeepers to bring you this interactive workshop being held at the our Cannington Centre.

Laurence Pithie MG (Turf Master One) and Paul Worster (FEGGA Director and Course Manager) bring a total of over seventy years greenkeeping and managerial experience to bring you modern solutions to age-old problems.

Smarter Greenkeeping is aimed at giving you the latest information, it will make your work easier, your output more economic, and make you more effective in what you do.

This is the first in a series of half day workshops and will take place on Thursday 18 April at 12pm, the following topics will be discussed:

1. Bunkers. Stop pouring money into an increasingly time-consuming area and devise a plan of action. Look at case studies from clubs in the South – see how major problems have been addressed and how you can apply this at your club.
2. Become more effective at work. How can the Greenkeeper become more central to the needs of the business? How can the Greenkeeper influence meetings, and become more influential in the workplace? It's not as hard as you think, so start learning today.

This first workshop costs £20 per person and includes lunch. Register today by contacting Wynne Jones at Bridgwater College on 01278 655026 or jonesw@bridgwater.ac.uk by Friday 12th April.

The Smarter Greenkeeping series will then re-commence in the Autumn of 2013 with more cutting edge subjects which are of practical benefit to the whole industry.
