

August 2015 Update

ICL Turf & Amenity Training

Ed seeks education

Ed Carter, Sales and Development Manager at ICL has asked Frank to submit a proposal for a customised training programme for the (formerly Everris) Turf and Amenity Team.

Ed explained that there had been some changes in the team and a meeting next month provided a great opportunity to get people together to update them and to provide some skill development.

SALTEX 2015 Talk

Frank has accepted an invitation from Colin Hoskins, the IOG's Features Editor, to speak at SALTEX 2015 at the NEC at 2pm on 5th Nov 2015.

The IOG requested a talk related to Stress Management so Frank suggested 'Managing Your Mates at Work'. This topic was readily accepted!

This is the first SALTEX to be held at NEC and the turnout is expected to be good as people 'check it out' and compare the NEC to Windsor Racecourse.

BASIS Breakthrough

In July Frank completed a successful pilot of a brand new event - the BASIS Participative Training Design Day.

After the event attendee Dr Ruth Mann, Head of Research at the STRI said that the Design Day pilot was 'Good for helping develop ideas on course design and delivery' and Dr Jim Lewis of DJL Agroeconomics said it was 'Very useful for course design'.
