IOG Team Training Success

GaNTIP Progress

The Institute of Groundsmanship's team of Regional Pitch Advisors completed their first two professional development events this month. The training was designed specifically to support their nationwide Grounds and Natural Turf Improvement Programme (GaNTIP).

The national team was divided into two smaller groups with Jason Booth (Team Leader) attending both events which covered Time Management, Influencing Skills and Presentation Skills.

More to Come

All the feedback from the delegates on both events was very positive e.g. 'Valuable, worthwhile, delivered in an encouraging and supportive manner and of real benefit' - Andy Clarke.

Frank is writing a report on all aspects of the training given and will be meeting Jason Booth soon to discuss the next priority round of professional development for the GaNTIP team.
